Have Locksmith Will Travel

In the age of COVID-19, everyone still needs security. Bruce Krist is a locksmith that takes his specialized skills along with Access8™ on the road – whenever and wherever he’s needed.

“Right now I’m going to a meeting with a client interested in gutting his spare bedroom and installing an access control vault door for the owner’s firearms. It’s what I do.”

Krist, who has been in business over 30 years, travels the country where his expertise is needed. From health clubs in Oklahoma to cities east and west, Krist brings his comprehensive experience to bear on security issues, and includes the Access8™ Door Control System as one of the key staples in his arsenal for clients.

Access8™ Has Become One of Krist’s Main Products

“The biggest feature is its expandability,” he explains. “Too many products out there are one or two-door only. Price is always a factor, but the best thing about Access8™ is its expandability, which overcomes any price argument. Companies grow... change. This product gives us that expandability so instead of selling two or three systems, you do it with one: the Access8™.”

Fits Like a Glove

“There is a company in the dry-cleaning business that offers a unique service: patented 24/7 lockers available anytime, any day for people to drop clothing into a locker. They lock it with their own four-digit PIN, submit the order by email, text or by iPhone app. When the order’s ready, the customer gets a text and email to pickup. I used Access8™ to open the doors and trigger the lockers with the user’s debit card.”

“You’re not locked (no pun intended) into a single system,” he says. “That’s real flexibility.”

Krist is building his business through success stories like this with the Access8™ Door Control System from First Choice Building Products.

You should too.
